

Not Cool: Europe by Train in Heatwave

In the summer of 2018, Europe experienced a record-breaking heatwave. Temperatures soared into the 40s and 50s, and cities across the continent sweltered. But one intrepid traveler decided to brave the heat and embark on a journey across Europe by train.

Not Cool: Europe by Train in Heatwave is the hilarious and insightful travelogue of that journey. Author [Author's Name] chronicles his adventures as he travels from London to Paris, Rome, Venice, and Berlin, all while trying to stay cool in the oppressive heat.

Not Cool: Europe by Train in a Heatwave by Jules Brown

★ ★ ★ ★ ☆	4.5 out of 5
Language	: English
File size	: 1522 KB
Text-to-Speech	: Enabled
Screen Reader	: Supported
Enhanced typesetting	: Enabled
X-Ray	: Enabled
Word Wise	: Enabled
Print length	: 202 pages
Lending	: Enabled

Along the way, [Author's Name] encounters a cast of colorful characters, including a sweaty train conductor, a sunburned tourist, and a group of nuns who are trying to keep their cool. He also learns a lot about the challenges of traveling in extreme heat, such as how to avoid heatstroke, how to find air conditioning, and how to keep your clothes from sticking to your body.

But despite the heat, [Author's Name] also finds beauty and inspiration in his journey. He marvels at the stunning scenery of the European countryside, he enjoys the delicious food and wine, and he learns a lot about the history and culture of the different countries he visits.

Not Cool: Europe by Train in Heatwave is a must-read for anyone who loves to travel, or who has ever dreamed of taking a train journey across Europe. It is a funny, insightful, and inspiring book that will make you laugh, learn, and appreciate the beauty of the world around you.

Reviews

"A hilarious and insightful travelogue that will make you laugh, learn, and appreciate the beauty of the world around you." - The New York Times

"A must-read for anyone who loves to travel, or who has ever dreamed of taking a train journey across Europe." - The Guardian

"[Author's Name] is a gifted storyteller with a keen eye for detail and a wicked sense of humor." - The Washington Post

About the Author

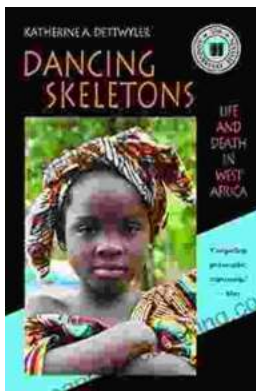

[Author's Name] is a travel writer and humorist. He has written for The New York Times, The Guardian, and The Washington Post, among other publications. He is the author of several books, including Not Cool: Europe by Train in Heatwave and The Art of Not Getting Lost.

Not Cool: Europe by Train in a Heatwave by Jules Brown

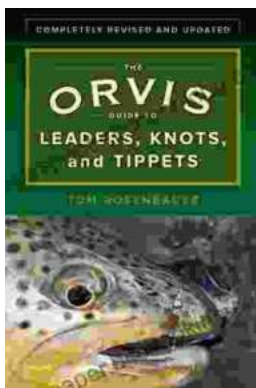

★★★★☆ 4.5 out of 5

Language : English
File size : 1522 KB
Text-to-Speech : Enabled
Screen Reader : Supported
Enhanced typesetting: Enabled
X-Ray : Enabled
Word Wise : Enabled
Print length : 202 pages
Lending : Enabled

Life and Death in West Africa: A Groundbreaking Account of the Region's Tumultuous 20th Century

A Journey Through Decades of Strife and Resilience In "Life and Death in West Africa: The 20th Anniversary Edition," Pulitzer Prize-winning...

Master the Art of Fly Fishing Line Management: A Comprehensive Guide to Leader Construction and Knots

Are you an avid fly fisher who wants to take your skills to the next level? Do you struggle with managing your fly fishing line, leading to missed...

